National Conference of Dalit Women (11-13 May, 2011)

Feminist Dalit Organization (FEDO) organized the National Conference of Dalit Women with the theme "Dignified life, Inclusion and Social Transformation" from 11-13 May 2011. In the three- day- long conference held in Kathmandu, Dalit women activists from 75 districts of Nepal; Human Rights activists, representatives from different I/NGOs, media persons; and international delegates from Denmark, UK, Sweden, Hongkong, India, and Bangladesh, participated.

A huge rally was organized and marched through different parts of the town chanting various slogans related with Dalit women rights and upcoming new constitution early in the morning at 8:30 am where more than 800 activists participated. The rally began from Bhadrakali and concluded at City Hall, Kathmandu. The Dalit women activists along with various like-minded organizations from all over the country also join for the solidarity towards the objectives of the Conference and for the Dalit women issues.

Leadership Development Training

From 23-25 February 2011, training on “Leadership Development” under the LDDP project funded by ESP/RDIF was organized in Mahottari. The main objective was to aware the participating women about their leadership skill. 27 Dalit men and women from different VDCs were invited who are involving in different political parties are trained about leadership, advocacy and facilitation skill tools and techniques. As we know only the people from excluded groups who have leadership skill can contribute for change. Dalit women have no access to reach the political parties decision making places even they are sacrifice their time like other personalities in the political parties. So that training will support them to develop their skill and capacity. After taking the training their awareness level increased and they should actively participate in political. The training will build their capacity for raise the Dalit women issues in different platform without hesitation. Participants committed to share their knowledge in community level to raise the Dalit women issues within own political parties houses and government sectors.
